Where promotion meets good taste

Just because the temperature is rising, doesn't mean your prices have to...

One of the most common questions and concerns that we receive at this time of year is the shipment of our product during warm weather. Chocolate Inn has a solution!

Chocolate Inn is offering Distributors FREE Insulated Containers

- * When temperatures rise over 75° Chocolate Inn will ship your order in insulated containers that also contain ice packs
- * While ice packs alone can only be counted on to last for 24 hours this double insulation method extends the longevity of the ice packs to 48 hours
- * The result is that most orders can ship via UPS ground (provided shipments are within a 2 day ship zone) or 2 day air
- * This translates into huge savings in freight over one day methods that are required when using ice packs alone

This offer needs to be indicated on your order

We will absorb the cost of the insulated container if the product is shipped between April 8th and August 31st.
